Prior Experience

PRIOR EXPERIENCE

Perhaps the best way to demonstrate prior experience is to provide a set of single-page summary sheets describing the various documents, studies and reports of a similar nature, format and subject that have been prepared by the team members and the key team members during the past thirty years. For Mr. Cahill, several of his projects date prior to this time, and are included to support his lengthy experience in the field of non-point source pollution, land runoff impacts on water quality, and related issues. Some of the references included are work products developed by the team during prior employment situations, in which they served as one of the principal authors.

Attached are project summary sheet for Cahill Associates, GeoSyntec, Low Impact Development Center, Amy S. Green Environmental Consultants, Inc., and the Pennsylvania Environmental Council.
